

God Exists
Acts 17:24-28

Some people wonder how anyone can believe in a God whom they have never _____ or _____.

The first evidence of God is the _____ itself (Psalm 19:1-2).

Not only can scientists predict the _____ of every celestial body in our universe (Isaiah 40:26), but farmers know when to _____ their seeds (Genesis 8:22).

The problem isn't that God failed to leave us a _____, but that man failed to pay _____ (Romans 1:18-23).

One reason people doubt the true God is that they have been led to believe in what is _____ called God.

Only an all-_____, all-_____ God could plan and keep the universe running so precisely.

Another evidence of God's existence is the human _____.

The body is such a complicated and well-designed creation that no rational person can argue it happened by _____.

Your body is very detailed, and every cell cries out that you were _____, not an accident (Psalm 139:14-45).

A third evidence pointing to God is the consciousness of _____.

You have a _____, you make plans and decisions and follow your dreams – you have _____ will and can choose what you want and decide to do.

There is something in you as a living being, a person, that other living things do not _____.

You also have a _____; it sometimes rebukes you and sometimes applauds your _____.

The only thing that accounts for our ability to choose and our moral nature is that we were _____ by a person who possessed those characteristics.

Moral character isn't an _____; it is a spiritual matter and must come from a spiritual _____.

Because you are a moral being you have to deal with your _____.

Man asks questions: "_____ am I? _____ did I come from? _____ am I here? What will happen to me at _____?" If there is no God, then trying to find a rational _____ for existence is impossible.

If there is a God what a _____ that makes! We know who we are because we were _____ in God's _____ ((Revelation 4:11). We have a _____ in Heaven who calls us His children.

If I ask, "Where am I going?" I have an answer: the Lord is _____ a place for me (John 14:1-3).

The place He is preparing is a place of utter _____ and _____; there won't be wars, hatred, divisions, sin or corruption. God will wipe away every _____, and we'll live _____ in Heaven.

God really exists! The _____ person takes that fact to _____. Since God exists, we are _____ to Him. Unfortunately some people _____ God, _____ Him, or _____ Him. What should God do with people who have no _____ for Him? With a _____ heart He leaves them _____ and gives them up, because that's what they _____ Him they wanted. If you are not willing to _____ with God in your life, then you'll live _____ without God and without hope. You may be physically alive, but you'll be spiritually empty and _____. Don't choose that; there's no _____ in shutting God out of your life.
